City hits Phillies with past due service bills

Politics. City Controller Alan Butkovitz identified 389 organizations that owe a combined $2.5 million to the city for uncollected police service fees and suggests the city starts collecting. The Phillies have outstanding bills dating back six years to the 2008 World Series. PAGE 02

Police service bill from World Series never paid

Show them the money. The city controller identified 389 groups that owe millions in uncollected debt.

It's pay up time.

The state of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia Phillies, Ogontz Avenue Revitalization Corp, the Mann Center and the Philadelphia Gas Works are the top five organizations most in debt to the city for use of its police department.

According to City Controller Alan Butkovitz, who recently re-evaluated police service reports from 2009 and 2012, announced Tuesday that 389 organizations owe the city $2.5 million for use of its police force that has never been collected.

In some instances bills have gone unpaid for at least 10 years.

Butkovitz determined that a majority of the money — $1.8 million — belongs to 168 organizations. And the balances are all 90 days past due or longer.

"The city needs to either collect the money or take measures to accurately reflect the balance in its receivable statements," Butkovitz wrote in a letter to Police Commissioner Charles Ramsey and city Revenue Commissioner Clarena Tolson.

Top 5

- Commonwealth: $341K
- Phillies: $275K
- Ogontz Avenue Revitalization Corp.: $256K
- Mann Center for the Performing Arts: $108K
- Philadelphia Gas Works: $80K

The Phillies, Butkovitz said, still owe the city $275,875 from the World Series festivities in 2008.

Bars, clubs, construction companies, government agencies represent the rest.

Butkovitz, who said the money could be used to help fund city services, ended his correspondence with a stern suggestion: "For all receivables over 90 days delinquent, the Police Department should seek the Law Department to take aggressive action on collecting the outstanding balances."

"Once a service is rendered, the Police Department should be reimbursed within 30 days," Butkovitz wrote. "If payment is not received, the City should assess interest and penalty for the past due amounts until the account is forwarded to a collection agency."

None of the organizations mentioned could be reached for comment.

Hot wheels. Vets start Wheelchair Games

At 6-foot-9, Anthony Pone of Philadelphia has the build of a basketball player.

And while on the court Tuesday at the Pennsylvania Convention Center, he owned his opponents.

And he did it from a wheelchair.

"Playing this game makes me feel alive," he said.

Pone, who lost his right leg in a car accident, is a volunteer at the 34th National Veterans Wheelchair Games, which runs through Aug. 17. The event features veterans, who are confined to wheelchairs, competing against one another in modified versions of basketball, hand cycling, power soccer, and softball, among others.

Visit Metro.us to see more photos of the Wheelchair Games in Philly.

Pone, who currently plays wheelchair basketball with Thonon Les Bains Chablais Handibasket in France, has been participating in these games since 2006.

"That's what these games are all about — just realizing that your handicap doesn't measure you," Pone said. "What you do after trauma happens [is what matters]." JEREMY RODRIGUEZ

Spring Garden

Fatal shooting followed weed quitting party

A group of friends were smoking marijuana, with a previously agreed upon plan to quit the drug once they finished, when one suddenly killed another with a handgun, a witness testified in court Tuesday.

Sergio Santiago, 23, was held on murder charges after a hearing Monday.

A friend testified that the group was waiting for another friend to bring a second box of cigars to a house on the 1600 block of Wallace Street on the afternoon of March 30, when Santiago picked up a handgun.

The gun fired and hit Antonio Flores, reportedly Santiago's best friend, in the head. He died instantly.

Santiago's defense attorney said the gun "accidentally discharged" and asked for a decrease to involuntary manslaughter charges.

But prosecutor Carlos Vega said pointing a gun at a vital part of the body is sufficient to uphold murder charges. The judge agreed.

Family's suit says DA unfairly seized house

Old City. Civil forfeiture policies in drug cases are being criticized.

In March, Markela Sourovelis saw police appear outside her Somerton home — one pointing a handgun at her dog's head.

"He said, 'Open the door or we're gonna shoot your dog,'" Sourovelis said.

Sourovelis and her husband Christos' son, a Temple student, had been arrested a night before for selling $40 worth of drugs. Police found more drugs in her son's bedroom.

"They said. … 'We're gonna take this house and we're gonna make it ours,'" she said.

A month later, a civil forfeiture order was filed by the Philadelphia district attorney's office to seize the Sourovelis' home.

Quoted

"Most of the civil forfeiture actions that the DA prosecutes are controlled substances violations, but they're going after property owners who were not charged with any kind of violation." Darpana Sheth, Institute for Justice attorney

Christos Sourovelis

SAM NEWHOUSE

Now, they are plaintiffs in a class-action lawsuit, filed Monday, that claims these civil forfeiture procedures under the Controlled Substances Forfeiture Act are unconstitutional.

"Police and prosecutors … get to keep all of the property they forfeit for their own use, giving them a direct and perverse incentive to take property and make a profit," said attorney Scott Bullock with the Institute for Justice, the public interest law firm handling the suit.

The three property owners named in the suit are all facing forfeiture of their houses due to family members who engaged in illegal drug activity.

The lawsuit says forfeiture proceedings at Courtroom 478 in City Hall are "stacked" against defendants, and claim that the DA's office seized $64 million in property under the Controlled Substances Forfeiture Act between 2002 and 2012 — more than Los Angeles and Brooklyn seized, combined — and 40 percent of those funds went to salaries in the DA's office.

But Tasha Jamerson, spokeswoman for the DA's office, said those numbers are "greatly exaggerated."

"The money received from drug forfeitures by PNTF [Public Nuisance Task Force] is split by this office and the police department and monitored by the attorney general's office. By law the money received from drug forfeitures … can only be used to combat criminal drug activity."

FOR ADULTS WITH TYPE 2 DIABETES
Januvia® works when my blood sugar is HIGH...
...and works less when my blood sugar is LOW.
Actor portrayal.

JANUVIA works by enhancing your body's own ability to lower blood sugar.

- JANUVIA is a prescription pill you take once a day.
- JANUVIA, along with diet and exercise, helps lower blood sugar in adults with type 2 diabetes.
- JANUVIA, by itself, is not likely to cause blood sugar going too low (hypoglycemia), because it works less when blood sugar is low.
- JANUVIA, by itself, is not likely to cause weight gain.

JANUVIA (jah-NEW-vee-ah) should not be used in patients with type 1 diabetes or with diabetic ketoacidosis (increased ketones in the blood or urine). If you have had pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas), it is not known if you have a higher chance of getting it while taking JANUVIA.

Selected Risk Information About JANUVIA

Serious side effects can happen in people who take JANUVIA, including pancreatitis, which may be severe and lead to death. Before you start taking JANUVIA, tell your doctor if you've ever had pancreatitis. Stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away if you have pain in your stomach area (abdomen) that is severe and will not go away. The pain may be felt going from your abdomen through to your back. The pain may happen with or without vomiting. These may be symptoms of pancreatitis.

Do not take JANUVIA if you are allergic to any of its ingredients, including sitagliptin. Symptoms of serious allergic reactions to JANUVIA, including rash, hives, and swelling of the face, lips, tongue, and throat that may cause difficulty breathing or swallowing, can occur. If you have any symptoms of a serious allergic reaction, stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away.

Kidney problems, sometimes requiring dialysis, have been reported.

If you take JANUVIA with another medicine that can cause low blood sugar (hypoglycemia), such as a sulfonylurea or insulin, your risk of getting low blood sugar is higher. The dose of your sulfonylurea medicine or insulin may need to be lowered while you use JANUVIA. Signs and symptoms of low blood sugar may include headache, drowsiness, weakness, dizziness, confusion, irritability, hunger, fast heart beat, sweating, and feeling jittery.

Please read the Medication Guide on the adjacent page for more detailed information.

Your doctor may do blood tests before and during treatment with JANUVIA to see how well your kidneys are working. Based on these results, your doctor may change your dose of JANUVIA. The most common side effects of JANUVIA are upper respiratory tract infection, stuffy or runny nose and sore throat, and headache.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Pay as little as $5 per prescription.*

Medication Guide

JANUVIA® (jah-NEW-vee-ah) (sitagliptin) Tablets

Read this Medication Guide carefully before you start taking JANUVIA and each time you get a refill. There may be new information. This information does not take the place of talking with your doctor about your medical condition or your treatment. If you have any questions about JANUVIA, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

What is the most important information I should know about JANUVIA?

Serious side effects can happen in people taking JANUVIA, including inflammation of the pancreas (pancreatitis) which may be severe and lead to death.

Certain medical problems make you more likely to get pancreatitis.

Before you start taking JANUVIA:

Tell your doctor if you have ever had

- pancreatitis
- stones in your gallbladder (gallstones)
- a history of alcoholism
- high blood triglyceride levels
- kidney problems

Stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away if you have pain in your stomach area (abdomen) that is severe and will not go away. The pain may be felt going from your abdomen through to your back. The pain may happen with or without vomiting. These may be symptoms of pancreatitis.

What is JANUVIA?

- JANUVIA is a prescription medicine used along with diet and exercise to lower blood sugar in adults with type 2 diabetes.
- JANUVIA is not for people with type 1 diabetes.
- JANUVIA is not for people with diabetic ketoacidosis (increased ketones in your blood or urine).
- If you have had pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas) in the past, it is not known if you have a higher chance of getting pancreatitis while you take JANUVIA.
- It is not known if JANUVIA is safe and effective when used in children under 18 years of age.

Who should not take JANUVIA?

Do not take JANUVIA if:

- you are allergic to any of the ingredients in JANUVIA. See the end of this Medication Guide for a complete list of ingredients in JANUVIA.

Symptoms of a serious allergic reaction to JANUVIA may include:

- rash
- raised red patches on your skin (hives)
- swelling of the face, lips, tongue, and throat that may cause difficulty in breathing or swallowing

What should I tell my doctor before taking JANUVIA?

Before you take JANUVIA, tell your doctor if you:

- have or have had inflammation of your pancreas (pancreatitis).
- have kidney problems.
- have any other medical conditions.
- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if JANUVIA will harm your unborn baby. If you are pregnant, talk with your doctor about the best way to control your blood sugar while you are pregnant.

  Pregnancy Registry: If you take JANUVIA at any time during your pregnancy, talk with your doctor about how you can join the JANUVIA pregnancy registry. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. You can enroll in this registry by calling 1-800-986-8999.
- are breast-feeding or plan to breast-feed. It is not known if JANUVIA will pass into your breast milk. Talk with your doctor about the best way to feed your baby if you are taking JANUVIA.

Tell your doctor about all the medicines you take, including prescription and non-prescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of your medicines and show it to your doctor and pharmacist when you get a new medicine.

How should I take JANUVIA?

- Take JANUVIA 1 time each day exactly as your doctor tells you.
- You can take JANUVIA with or without food.
- Your doctor may do blood tests from time to time to see how well your kidneys are working. Your doctor may change your dose of JANUVIA based on the results of your blood tests.
- Your doctor may tell you to take JANUVIA along with other diabetes medicines. Low blood sugar can happen more often when JANUVIA is taken with certain other diabetes medicines. See "What are the possible side effects of JANUVIA?".
- If you miss a dose, take it as soon as you remember. If you do not remember until it is time for your next dose, skip the missed dose and go back to your regular schedule. Do not take two doses of JANUVIA at the same time.
- If you take too much JANUVIA, call your doctor or local Poison Control Center right away.
- When your body is under some types of stress, such as fever, trauma (such as a car accident), infection or surgery, the amount of diabetes medicine that you need may change. Tell your doctor right away if you have any of these conditions and follow your doctor's instructions.
- Check your blood sugar as your doctor tells you to.
- Stay on your prescribed diet and exercise program while taking JANUVIA.
- Talk to your doctor about how to prevent, recognize and manage low blood sugar (hypoglycemia), high blood sugar (hyperglycemia), and problems you have because of your diabetes.
- Your doctor will check your diabetes with regular blood tests, including your blood sugar levels and your hemoglobin A1C.

What are the possible side effects of JANUVIA?

Serious side effects have happened in people taking JANUVIA.

- See "What is the most important information I should know about JANUVIA?".
- Low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). If you take JANUVIA with another medicine that can cause low blood sugar, such as a sulfonylurea or insulin, your risk of getting low blood sugar is higher. The dose of your sulfonylurea medicine or insulin may need to be lowered while you use JANUVIA. Signs and symptoms of low blood sugar may include:
  - headache
  - drowsiness
  - weakness
  - dizziness
  - confusion
  - irritability
  - hunger
  - fast heart beat
  - sweating
  - feeling jittery
- Serious allergic reactions. If you have any symptoms of a serious allergic reaction, stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away. See "Who should not take JANUVIA?". Your doctor may give you a medicine for your allergic reaction and prescribe a different medicine for your diabetes.
- Kidney problems, sometimes requiring dialysis

The most common side effects of JANUVIA include:

- upper respiratory infection
- stuffy or runny nose and sore throat
- headache

JANUVIA may have other side effects, including:

- stomach upset and diarrhea
- swelling of the hands or legs, when JANUVIA is used with rosiglitazone (Avandia®). Rosiglitazone is another type of diabetes medicine.

These are not all the possible side effects of JANUVIA. For more information, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

Tell your doctor if you have any side effect that bothers you, is unusual or does not go away.

Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

How should I store JANUVIA?

Store JANUVIA at 68°F to 77°F (20°C to 25°C).

Keep JANUVIA and all medicines out of the reach of children.

General information about the use of JANUVIA

Medicines are sometimes prescribed for purposes that are not listed in Medication Guides. Do not use JANUVIA for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give JANUVIA to other people, even if they have the same symptoms you have. It may harm them.

This Medication Guide summarizes the most important information about JANUVIA. If you would like to know more information, talk with your doctor. You can ask your doctor or pharmacist for additional information about JANUVIA that is written for health professionals. For more information, go to www.JANUVIA.com or call 1-800-622-4477.

What are the ingredients in JANUVIA?

Active ingredient: sitagliptin

Inactive ingredients: microcrystalline cellulose, anhydrous dibasic calcium phosphate, croscarmellose sodium, magnesium stearate, and sodium stearyl fumarate. The tablet film coating contains the following inactive ingredients: polyvinyl alcohol, polyethylene glycol, talc, titanium dioxide, red iron oxide, and yellow iron oxide.

What is type 2 diabetes?

Type 2 diabetes is a condition in which your body does not make enough insulin, and the insulin that your body produces does not work as well as it should. Your body can also make too much sugar. When this happens, sugar (glucose) builds up in the blood. This can lead to serious medical problems.

High blood sugar can be lowered by diet and exercise, and by certain medicines when necessary.

This Medication Guide has been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Williams hanged himself at home

Suicide. A conclusion of the investigation is still weeks away, said Marin County's assistant chief deputy coroner.

Fans in Boston memorialize Robin Williams at the bench where he filmed a scene from "Good Will Hunting." / NICOLAUS CZARNECKI, METRO Oscar-winning actor and groundbreaking comedian Robin Williams hanged himself with a belt in his Northern California home after he had sought treatment for depression, a coroner said on Tuesday based on preliminary findings.

Williams was found dead by his personal assistant at midday on Monday in a bedroom. He was suspended from a belt wedged between a closet door and a door frame, Marin County's assistant chief deputy coroner, Keith Boyd, told a news conference.

"Mr. Williams' personal assistant became concerned at approximately 11:45 a.m. when he failed to respond to knocks on his bedroom door," said Boyd.

"His right shoulder area was touching the door with his body perpendicular to the door and slightly suspended. Mr. Williams at that time was cool to the touch with rigor mortis present in his body," Boyd added.

Officials also found a pocket knife near Williams and superficial cuts on his left wrist with dried red material that matched what was on the knife blade. It was not yet known if it was his blood. REUTERS

Demonstrations. Protesters in Missouri gather again after riots

More than 100 people marched at the St. Louis County courthouse on Tuesday to protest the police shooting of an unarmed black teenager, but the demonstration remained peaceful after two previous days of violence.

Protesters are calling for justice for Michael Brown, 18, who was shot to death in the back of a police car on Saturday, an end to what they say is harassment of blacks by the mostly white police force in Ferguson and the jailing of the officer who shot Brown.

Ferguson Police Chief Tom Jackson said police were determined to keep a lid on simmering tensions. Authorities had been expected to release the name of the officer involved in the shooting on Tuesday but the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, citing police, said on Tuesday the name would not be released. The race of the officer, a six-year veteran who is now on administrative leave, also has not been revealed.

The FBI has opened a civil rights investigation into the racially charged case. / GETTY IMAGES

The crowd in front of the St. Louis County Courthouse in nearby Clayton on Tuesday chanted, "Hands up, don't shoot" – a reference to reports that Brown appeared to have been shot while holding his hands up in surrender.

"We've consistently had a problem," said St. Louis attorney Jerryl Christmas, who helped lead the protest. "There's a lack of diversity all the way up from the local police to the prosecutor's office into the judiciary."

Residents in the low-income, mostly black neighborhood where Brown was killed say they are often harassed by police. Jackson said the neighborhood had a lot of crime but that there were no race problems. REUTERS

"The police, they always look at us with a certain disdain."

Paris Hilton may not understand the Internet. / ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Hilton will retweet your criticism

Are Paris Hilton's retweets of people mocking her a form of protest or a sign of self-delusion? Asking for a friend. OK, here's the deal: Word spread this week about how much the hotel heiress and sex tape entrepreneur pulls down for her work as a DJ in Ibiza this summer — and she's pulling down a lot. "She's making $2.7 million from the four nights — $347,000 an hour," a source tells the Sun. "The crowds do seem to enjoy it, but most are too off their faces to care that she's simply pressed play on a Beyonce mega-mix." Or maybe their expectations of Hilton's abilities are so low that they're actually blown away by her button-pressing abilities. But that's beside the point. As versions of this story have been popping up online, Hilton has been actively retweeting them in a seeming act of braggadocio. Here's the thing, though: She seems to be missing the point that this is not being reported as a good thing.

Stone may become the next Sally Bowles

Emma Stone is reportedly set to take over for Michelle Williams on Broadway in "Cabaret," according to one of the cattiest sources ever to talk to Radar Online. "Emma is replacing Michelle in 'Cabaret' at the end of November," the sneering secret-spiller says. "Producers are hoping it helps make them back their investment and stay open for another extension because Michelle didn't do the box office they were hoping for." Damn, anything else? Yes, actually: Apparently director Sam Mendes didn't even want Williams in the first place. "[Stone] was Sam Mendes' first choice, but had to drop out because Sony wouldn't accommodate the dates with 'Spider-Man 2.'"

Talking point

Kunis to give birth — in a month

Start prepping those Ashton Kutcher/Mila Kunis birth announcements, folks, because it looks like we're in the home stretch. "She is scheduled to be delivering in less than one month and she cannot wait," a source tells the National Enquirer. And if that's not too much information for you, how about this? "Mila was going to do an all-natural birth with no medications or sedatives, but she has been advised against this because she is such a small girl," the source adds. "Ashton will not accept this and refuses to see her in pain."

The Weekly Yelp. The best places to check out in Brewerytown

This week we're focusing on one of Philly's many neighborhoods: Brewerytown. Located between 25th Street and the Schuylkill River and bound by Cecil B. Moore to the north and Parrish Street to the south, Brewerytown is home to several up-and-coming spots. Here are a few of our favorites!

A bird's-eye view of Rybrew shows the care they put into their sandwiches. / MIMI L. / YELP

Rybrew

2816 W. Girard Ave.
I really can't say enough good things about this place. It's my go-to spot whenever I'm able to find a reasonable excuse to go out for lunch. Bad day? Rybrew. Good day? Rybrew. Boring day? Rybrew. JAMIE N.

Wake Up Yoga

2329 Parrish St.
I've been to an assortment of classes — mostly Burn to Shine and Yintense. As one might assume, the class is really shaped by the teacher. ... I've enjoyed every class and found strengths in every teacher. KATE W.

ERA

2743 Poplar St.
This place is the definition of a dive and I loved every ounce of it. Came here for a friend's birthday and did not know what to expect. We started out with the "special," which was a shot of probably the cheapest whiskey made on the planet and a bottle of Lionshead beer. If I recall, the total cost was just a few bucks. STANLEY L.

The Dude actually does abide

Interview. Jeff Bridges has been behind the film of the controversial YA novel "The Giver" for ages.

Lois Lowry's 1993 hit young adult novel "The Giver" has a lot of die-hard fans, but possibly none more die-hard than Jeff Bridges — no, really. The Oscar-winning actor has been trying to get a film version of the book — about a future society where emotions and memories are controlled to keep the peace — for the past 18 years. Well, he finally got his wish.

You've been behind this film for a while. Is this a more personal project for you than some others you've done recently, would you say?
Yeah, I think so. I've been involved with it for about 18 years. I originally wanted to direct my father, Lloyd Bridges, in the film. As a matter of fact, somewhere we have a videotape of me doing just that. We read through the whole book; my dad played The Giver. Dylan, my brother's son, played Jonas, one of his sons shot it and my buddy Bud Cort narrated the whole thing. Hopefully we'll break it out for the DVD.

What would you say was the biggest reason for the delay in getting this movie made?
I think the challenge of creating that world, for one thing. And also, there's a certain danger element to the book. I thought it would be much easier than it turned out to be to get it made. I mean, 12 million copies sold in 21 countries, [it's] a Newbery Award-winning book, [it's] taught in schools — there are curriculums based on the book. ... But it's also on the banned books list, so it's quite controversial. A lot of people felt it was too risky for kids to know that. ... There are sexual themes in it, a little bit of violence, but nothing compared to other movies that are out today. And then you have the euthanasia element. ... I think that made the financiers question whether it would be accepted or not. [But] then movies like "The Hunger Games" — my understanding is that they were inspired by "The Giver" — [were successful]; their success really helped our movie get made.

Jeff Bridges once wanted to film "The Giver" with his father, Lloyd, as the star. / GETTY IMAGES

Playing it cool

Do you find that since winning the Oscar you've been put in the "serious actor" niche?
Well, now I've kind of taken that strategy of playing things differently and thrown that out the window. Now I just jam and do whatever. I'm not too concerned about my career anymore. I'm just kind of playing. I try to resist being engaged in anything, because I know what it takes. And that's also been kind of my game plan, to kind of resist. So what happens is you get things you just can't resist because they're too cool, and that also has kind of served me well, I think.

A NEW HOTEL AND EVEN MORE MURALS

Graphic arts superstar Shepard Fairey spent time in Fishtown finishing the first of three murals he'll execute through the Mural Arts Program. "Lotus Diamond" now adorns 1228 Frankford Ave. Fairey, long familiar with Philly's street-art history ("Cornbread was the first graffiti artist," he said of North Philly's tagger), talked up Hennessy Cognac, the liquor sponsor behind his current painting trek, and signed bottles labeled with his own design at a lunch at Pod and a PAFA party, where he spun with DJ Cosmo Baker.

That same Frankford Ave. address will get its long-rumored hotel if developer Roland Kassis has his say. He's waiting for the zoning process to start on the "hottest, coolest boutique hotel in Philly." Kassis is also saying his tenant at 1335 Frankford, La Colombe, should be open within two weeks.

Happy hour

Decor. Here's how to style a bar cart.

Maybe it started with "Mad Men" and our obsession with all things mid-century, or the fact that we just love cocktails, but bar carts have surpassed "trend" status to become a full-fledged design staple.

Of course, it's not enough to just throw a bunch of bottles on your cart. The trolley — like your curated coffee table — needs some thought.

We caught up with Susan Feldman, co-founder of one of our favorite decor sites, One Kings Lane, for tips on styling what's fast becoming our happy place.

TINA CHADHA
@TinaatMetro
tina.chadha@metro.us

Decorative glasses are a given, says Feldman. It's great to display really beautiful glasses. / ALL LIFESTYLE PHOTOS BY ONE KINGS LANE

Bar cart essentials

- Decorative glasses
- A fun recipe book
- Beautiful cocktail napkins
- Candle and matches
- Fun straws
- Swizzle sticks

Top shelf

If you're going to have alcohol on it, display the pretty stuff, says Feldman. "You can find really beautiful bottles of whatever you like to drink, and those become decorative." One bottle she loves is St-Germain.

- "Use the bottle after for orange juice or grapefruit juice. It looks really beautiful on the bar."

PLUS

Expert tip

Containers

The trick to taking your cart from "meh" to Pinterest-worthy is containers, says Feldman (pictured). "Instead of laying out your bar tools, put them in a mint julep cup," she suggests. "When you contain things inside of things, everything looks a little more orderly."

Get creative

Think beyond booze. "Find a decorative object to put on your cart so it's not just about the bottles and the liquor," says Feldman. "It could be a sculpture or a piece of artwork." Also on her list: a lamp. "It creates a focal point on top of the cart."

Not just for happy hour

Not a drinker? Don't let that stop you. "There are a million other uses for a bar cart, which is one of the great reasons to buy one," says Feldman. She suggests subbing the versatile piece in for a side table, placing potted plants on it for a mini interior garden or stashing that eyesore of an office printer on it. "It's great because you can place the printer at the bottom and make the top look beautiful."

Joy's Healthy Bite

JOY BAUER

WWW.JOYBAUER.COM

Hear from the health and wellness expert for the "Today" show and New York Times best-selling author.

THE RIGHT SNACK WILL KEEP YOU GOING

We all strive to stay sharp and focused throughout the day, but our blood sugar levels tend to drop in the early afternoon, taking a toll on our energy and mental performance.

Our natural response is to snack. But when we grab junky items, we set ourselves up to crash a few hours later, making our to-do lists (and added exercise debt) more difficult to conquer.

Strategic snack choices can boost your productivity and prolong your energy without threatening your waistline. An ideal midday snack should be:

1 Rich in fiber and/or protein. They help stabilize your blood sugar — when that fluctuates, so does your energy. Foods that contain protein and/or fiber are more filling, too, so your appetite will stay in check.

Keeping your blood sugar in balance is key to snacking, so lay off the ice cream. / GETTY IMAGES

By the numbers

200

Snacks should be no more than 200 calories. With a little extra effort, you can find plenty of energizing snack options at low-calorie costs. Keep in mind: A healthy snack can still cause weight gain when consumed in excessive quantities.

2 Easy to carry and store. The right snack must also be the one you're able to keep one on hand at all times. If it's not within reach when your stomach growls, you're more likely to grab a less healthy alternative. (You may also feel obligated to stick with the healthy snack if it's sitting in front of you!)

Wondering which snacks fit the bill? Visit Metro.us for a few simple suggestions.

Try my Nourish Snacks!

My new snack line offers 30 deliciously seasoned blends of premium nuts, seeds, fruits, legumes and whole grains, all packaged at no more than 200 calories per bag. Plus, they're free of GMOs, gluten, dairy, artificial sweeteners and preservatives. If you're a salty snack fan, try Menage-a-Mix (roasted corn and edamame with barbecue-spiced chickpeas) or Mr. POPular (crispy, half-popped corn kernels). If you have a ferocious sweet tooth, try Cocoa Loco (dark chocolate chia-oat clusters) or Cashew Colada (chewy pineapple, toasted coconut and roasted cashews).

Horoscope

♌ Leo | July 23-Aug. 22. You can reach your goals if you stick to simple solutions, taking baby steps and building on solid ground.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Be cautious when dealing with financial matters. Revisit a deal that you dismissed in the past. With changes, you will be able to come up with a workable agreement.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23-Oct. 22. Expand your interests. The more you learn, the easier it will be to reach your objectives.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23-Nov. 21. Don't waste time trying to get others to do things your way. Focus on the projects that mean the most to you.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22-Dec. 21. Show your leadership qualities. Staying in control will make an impact on those in a position to help you advance.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22-Jan. 20. You will get more accomplished on your own. Others may not share your vision. Consider looking outside your current location for better chances.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21-Feb. 18. You will be able to achieve all that you're hoping for if you exude confidence. A current associate will turn into a worthwhile partner.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19-March 20. Don't be afraid to try something new. Even if it's difficult, you have the ability to learn quickly. Extra cash is imminent.

♈ Aries | March 21-April 20. Your avant-garde methods will help you deal with whatever comes your way. Don't underestimate the possibilities of networking.

♉ Taurus | April 21-May 21. Choose to be as inconspicuous as possible. If someone around you is in a fighting mood, take the opportunity to become immersed in small projects.

♊ Gemini | May 22-June 20. Use the people who care for you as reinforcements in your current struggles. Their support will help you overcome your opponents.

♋ Cancer | June 21-July 22. Get in touch with an old friend. It will ease your stress and help you find the perfect solution to any dilemma. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

RIP, Robin Williams

We have just lost Robin Williams. It is reported that he had suffered from severe depression and has apparently died by suicide. He truly was an icon in comedy and was an actor as well. Robin could make you laugh and cry from his profound body of work. His wit and imagination were unequaled, and I don't think anyone can fill his shoes. A light has gone out, but he will be remembered for his iconoclastic routines that will live on. He suffered from depression, a most insidious disease, for many years, which is a painful, destructive ailment that has taken many lives. I understand this disease very well, for there was a time that I tried to take my own life.

Gaza had no chance

Re: 'Palestine deserves its fate' (Metro, Aug. 12)
To letter writer Howard Berner: Please tell me how the Palestinians are supposed to establish a country if the Israelis continue to chop up their land, businesses, dignity and even identification papers as they have for the past 66 years. That's like saying everyone else can come into the U.S. and murder innocent women and children just to get back at the KKK. Israelis should target Hamas only.

Center City team vying for Little League title

Little League World Series. The Taney Dragons are set to compete for a title starting this weekend in Williamsport.

A Pennsylvania team has not won the Little League World Series since Levittown's win in 1960. / FACEBOOK

Mo'Ne Davis has two reasons to be extra proud as her team prepares to represent the Mid-Atlantic Region in the Little League World Series this weekend.

She hails from Philadelphia, a city forging a legacy in baseball from the ground up.

And she throws like a girl.

"If I'm pitching I just go out and throw strikes," the 13-year old told ESPN. "They think I throw soft, but then they see my fastball and they get kind of scared and I just strike them out."

With Davis on the mound, the Taney Dragons shut out Delaware 8-0 Sunday to win their regional tournament, and the team (and a slew of Center City families) have already traveled to central Pennsylvania to see the team compete for the most coveted title in youth sports.

"We asked them to give us two hours of the best baseball they've played in their lives and they did," Taney coach Alex Rice said after the victory last weekend.

The double-elimination tournament starts for Taney Friday at 3 p.m.

Philly squad to face South Nashville

The gritty and dynamic Taney Dragons will have a challenge starting their World Series in Williamsport Friday.

They will draw the Southeastern Regional Champions, a team from South Nashville making its second straight appearance in the World Series.

One Nashville star player, Blake Money, once played tee ball on the South Lawn of the White House.

The teams will duel at 3 p.m. at Lamade Stadium on ESPN. METRO

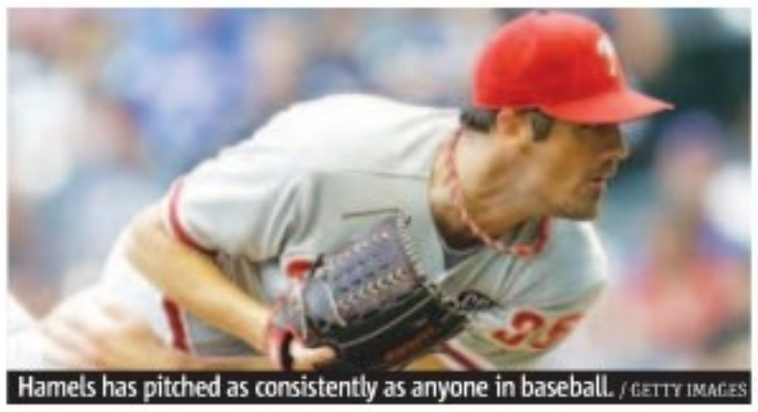
Hamels to Sox a real possibility

MLB. Reports from Boston say Cole Hamels is open to being moved to the Red Sox.

Cole Hamels has a limited no-trade clause and has made it appear he is content to remain in Philadelphia, for good or for bad.

After all, the Phillies weren't in much better shape a year ago when he signed his mega-extension with the club.

But a report by Boston Globe reporter Nick Cafardo said that "Hamels, according to a source close to him, would be open to a deal with the Red Sox."



Hamels has pitched as consistently as anyone in baseball. / GETTY IMAGES

The Globe story, and others in Philadelphia papers have highlighted the multitude of Phillies scouts who have been attending Red Sox organization games. The move, which would have to take place during the offseason, would be a clear sign that the Phillies are willing to blow things up to rebuild.

Possible Boston targets include infielder Xander Bogaerts, center fielder Jackie Bradley Jr. and catcher Christian Vasquez.

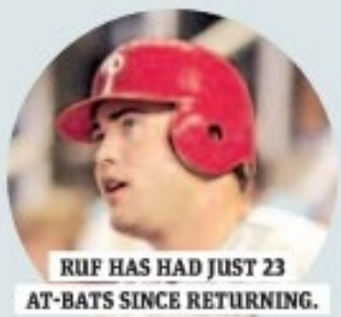
Ruf returning to form

Sandberg pleased with Ruf's recent work at plate

Darin Ruf hasn't had many opportunities at the plate, due both to injuries, and to being blocked at first by Ryan Howard and in the outfield by the team's veterans. But after hitting a big two-run bomb against the Mets on Monday, manager Ryne Sandberg thinks he's earned more at-bats.



RUF HAS HAD JUST 23 AT-BATS SINCE RETURNING.

"He's had chances to pinch hit," Sandberg said. "He's had spot starts. It's good to see him connect against a left-handed pitcher." METRO

Big 5 star stays home

Sixers ink Roberts to three-year deal

It wasn't long ago that Ronald Roberts was battling alongside his fellow St. Joseph's Hawks en route to winning the A-10 tournament title. And now, the undrafted free agent will get to continue to live his dream not far from his college gym. The Sixers announced Tuesday that they had signed the 6-foot-8 forward to a three-year deal that is partially guaranteed.

ROBERTS' ATHLETICISM HAS LANDED HIM ON THE 76ERS.

He posted 10 points and seven rebounds in the Orlando Summer League and opted out of his contract with a team in France. METRO

Sixers picked last

ESPN says the 76ers are worst in the NBA

Sure they have young talent, and a lot more waiting in the wings, but if you had to bet on the favorite to have the most ping-pong balls in next season's NBA draft lottery (assuming the rules stay the same), ESPN says to bet on the Sixers.

A panel of experts picked the Sixers to have the first pick in their first 2015 mock draft, with the Cleveland Cavaliers expected to finish with the best record. METRO

Eagles' Foles headed for a gigantic payday

NFL. The Eagles will have to pay Nick Foles big bucks if he has another Pro Bowl season.

Foles threw two interceptions Friday against the Bears, his total from all of 2013. / CHARLES MOSTOLLER, METRO

If Nick Foles performs anywhere near as productively as he did during his breakout season in 2013, he could become a very, very rich man.

Quarterback salaries are booming, with Andy Dalton's six-year deal in excess of $95 million, signed a few weeks ago, just the latest huge contract for a young signal caller showing what the market will pay for a good arm. A franchise quarterback is more valuable an asset than ever in the National Football League. Earlier this offseason, Colin Kaepernick inked an extension with the 49ers that could pay him $125 million.

Foles is eligible to sign a contract extension after this season. Could he break the bank too?

"When I'm on the field, that doesn't matter," Foles said. "My job is to do what I can to help us be a successful football team, so at the end of the day we'll see what happens."

Foles was a third-round pick in 2012 and is due just $635,000 this season. If he doesn't sign a new deal with the Birds he is due only $680,000 next season.

The impending Foles extension will have an impact on the entire club, giving the Eagles less maneuverability to resign their other young stars and to be active in free agency in the future. The offense is packed with talented skill players this year and it could be Foles' best shot at becoming an elite NFL quarterback.

"It's a blessing to play this game. I'm never worried about that," he said.

Quoted

"I always know that if you just ... take care of business each and every other day the rest will take care of itself and you'll be taken care of." Foles

By the numbers

119.2

In 2013, Foles had the third highest single-season QB rating of all time.
